TOMB OF EMPRESS MADE AGRA FAMOUS

Listed Among World's Most Beautiful Communities.

Washington.—"Agra, central Indian city included in a recent list of the world's twenty most beautiful communities, and famous as site of the Taj Mahal, is a monument in stone to the Mogul empire of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries," says a bulletin from the Washington head quarters of the Washington Geographic society. "White Tudors and Stuarts were governing England, and adventurers of many nations were seeking wealth or freedom in America, descendants of Tamerlane were building an empire in India which for display and magnificence has never been equaled. Agra, capital of the Great Mogul, was adorned with palaces and mosques which rank today among the wonders of the earth.

Where Chessmen Were Women.

"The Oriental world then bowed before an emperor whose throne, supported by peacocks studded with jewels, cost $1,000,000. His chess board was a courtyard paved in black and white marble squares, and for chess men he had slave girls in colored costumes, their movements directed by his voice. Ninety-nine wives were in his harem, a hundred being considered unlucky, and princes from beyond the Mogul empire received their golden age, and who built the Taj Mahal as a tomb for his favorite wife, Arjumand Banu, 'the exalted of the palace.'

"Shah Jehan mounted the throne of India by wading through the blood of his male relatives, having killed them all to nip revolution in the bud. He ruled with incredible cruelty and splendor, and died at seventy-four, the prisoner of his usurping son whose mother was the same Arjumand Banu, in whose honor he had built the Taj Mahal. At her death Shah Jehan's hair had turned white, and it was her son who imprisoned his aging father in the fort at Agra and ruled instead.

"The interior of this old red sand stone fort, while it still standing, is filled with the palaces of Mogul emperors, buildings of supreme beauty in one of them is shown the Jasmine tower which sheltered Shah Jehan's exalted of the palace during her life time. Here the emperor had spent many hours with his favorite wife and its platform commands a superb view of her tomb, the Taj Mahal.

"At his own request the aged emperor was brought to die in this favorite haunt of his youth. In sight of the building which has since become his own resting place as well as that of his wife.

"This world-renowned white marble building is set in a beautifully kept garden between two symmetrically placed red sandstone mosques the whole being kept in perfect repair by the government. Hither, during India's more pleasant fall and winter months, flock thousands of tourists from Europe and America as well as from neighboring countries.

"Palaces of he Mogul emperors, the white marble Pearl mosque, and the nearby tomb of Akbar share with the Taj Mahal the glories of Mohammedan architecture of the past. In a sense Delhi and Agra are to Mohammedan India what Benares is to the Hindu, sacred cities of ancient times Certainly Agra embodies what is most beautiful in Moslem taste, though several Italian draftsmen are said to have been employed in its plans.

Golf Beside the Taj Mahal.

"The modern city of Agra is a railway and distributing center of importance in north-central India and is capital of the British governed united provinces, which include the districts of Agra and Oudh. It lies on the banks of the River Jumna, one of the major tributaries of the Ganges. Chief among its industries is export of red sandstone, in which the district abounds, and of which the city itself is constructed. Palaces of modern India, however, though built of the same material, in their elaborate magnificence compare but poorly with the chaste designs of the ancient Agra. Harmonious lines and delicate balance distinguish the buildings of the Great Mogul, beside whose historic walls officials and tourists now play golf and drink tea."

Sassy Beggar

Dallas, Texas.—A beggar who became enraged and railed at a man who had given him a dime was fined $25 in the corporation court here.

Prehistoric Cities Revealed by Floods

Calcutta.—The recent floods have brought a fortune to the maharajah of Mayurbhunj, in Bengal, by washing away on the banks of the River Vaintarini immense quantities of earth, exposing prehistoric cities full of archeological treasures. Implements and ornaments of the Neolithic age were found and palaces were laid bare which were buried for centuries in the deep jungle. Arrangements are being made for a systematic excavation and examination of the finds, which are expected to throw light on the civilization of India before the coming of the Aryan conquerors.

Supervisors

At a meeting of the Board yesterday it organized by electing D. Moses, Chairman, and S. E. Anderson, was elected Chairman of Road Board:

The sum of $200 was appropriated for colored county agent, Callaham.

$150 for fire wardens.

$200 to Lyle Caldwell as scale of weights and measures

$300 to W. A. Moses for surveying surrender grounds.

The Board will consider the annual budget at the February meeting; in this estimate of the County's expenditure the public is much interested and no doubt the Board will be glad to hear any interested tax-payer. About the April meeting the Board will lay the county levy and certainly the property owners will be interested in the levy made. The levy should certainly be reduced gradually each year until the surplus we now have on hand is reduced to a bare working margin.

ERTILIZER NITROGEN PRODUCED CHEAPEST BY CYANAMID PROCESS, SAYS NOTED CHEMIST

"Under American conditions the cyanamid process is the cheapest one for fixing air nitrogen," declares Dr. W. S. Landis, former president of the American Chemical Society. Furthermore, this authority declares that this is the only type of air fixation process on this continent that has been able to produce nitrogen cheap enough for fertilizer use.

These statements are of extreme importance at this time because national farm organizations are demanding that the offer of the American Cyanamid Company to make cheap fertilizers at Muscle Shoals be accepted by congress without further delay, while those interests opposing this move are representing that the cyanamid process is "obsolete."

Mr. Landis points out that the cyanamid process as developed today in America is something far different from the cyanamid process as it was here a decade ago and as still used in some European countries. While Germany has turned her attention more largely to the exploitation of the newer synthetic process, we in America have gone ahead steadily improving the cyanamid process.

TWO WAYS TO GET CHEAP AIR NITRATE FERTILIZER.

The American Method Best Under American Conditions.

Starting in 1910 with a product containing only 16 to 17 per cent. nitrogen, by 1917 this nitrogen content had been pushed up to 21 per cent. and today the big plant at Niagara Falls is turning out a product averaging 23.5 per cent. nitrogen. While electric chemists were bringing about this surprising increase in the percentage of nitrogen captured and held, other engineers were devising more efficient methods of handling the raw materials. As a result of these combined efforts the number of workmen used at the Niagara plant today is no greater than it was in 1914 when the output was only about one-third the present tonnage. Furthermore, this very largely common or semi-skilled labor.

The synthetic process using these times as many men per ton of nitrogen fixed is well-suited to European conditions where labor is cheap—no skilled labor and technicians—and where raw materials are expensive and cheap water power scarce. While the cyanamid process using large quantities of cheap raw materials and cheap power, must machinery and few workmen, is the typical American method of getting things done, is Landis insists. And the fact that in spite many efforts, no other process has been able to make nitrogen as fertilizer basis here in America, seems to support Dr. Landis' conclusions.

JESUS AND THE LAW

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:18-3:6.

GOLDEN TEXT—Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets. I am not come to destroy but to fulfill.—Matt. 5:17.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Doing Good on the Lord's Day.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Use the Lord's Day.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC— How Jesus Obeyed the Law.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Declares the Higher Law

I. Jesus and Fasting (vv. 18-22).

1. The questions asked (v. 18).

The scribes and pharisees seeing Jesus eating with the publicans and sinners, raised the question as to why He did so. When Jesus heard their question He detained, "They inquired whether we need of the physician, but they that are sick." Another question was then asked as to why Christ's disciples did not fast when the disciples of John and of the pharisees did fast? John the Baptist was now in prison, therefore his disciples were mourning for him.

2. Christ's answer (vv. 19, 20).

In explanation He raised the question, "Can the children of the bridechamber fast while the bridegroom is with them?" He then declared that as long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast. The time will come, however, when they would fast. He is now away. Fasting, therefore, is appropriate.

3. New wine in old bottles (vv. 21, 22).

The bottles mentioned here were made of skins of animals. In the fermentation of the wine there was expansion which stretched the skin. To put new wine in the bottle after it was stretched would cause it to be rent asunder when fermentation took place. The same thing in principle would be realized if new cloth were used on old garments. The thing designed was to show the foolishness of imposing old customs on the new age.

II. The Disciples Plucking Ears of Corn on the Sabbath (Matt. 2:23-28).

1. The charge made against the disciples (vv. 23, 24).

Perhaps they were on their way to the synagogue to worship when they plucked the ears of corn. For this act the pharisees accused them of lawlessness.

2. Jesus defends them against the charge (vv. 25-28).

(1) He cites a precedent (vv. 25, 26) He showed them that the very law which they charged the disciples with breaking recorded the fact that David the great king of Israel had gone into the house of God and eaten the bread which should be eaten only by the priests.

(2) He shows the nature of a Sabbath law (v. 27).

The Sabbath was made for man, therefore its right use is to be determined by the good of man. The laws of honesty, truth, purity and love differ from the law of the Sabbath and there is no circumstance or condition under which they may be departed from.

(3) Jesus is the Lord of the Sabbath (v. 28).

It was He who instituted it when creation was finished, therefore He had a right to use it as it pleased Him for man's good.

III. Jesus Healing a Man's Withered Hand on the Sabbath (3:1-6).

1. The place—the synagogue (v. 1)

Jesus' example shows what He did on the Sabbath. He went to the place of worship. The presence of the man with a withered hand gave Jesus an opportunity to administer a rebuke to the pharisees.

2. The pharisees watching (v. 2.)

They knew that Jesus would be interested in this helpless man. They surmised that some work would have to be performed to heal him.

3. The man made an example (v. 3)

Jesus wanted the case to be open to all, so He commanded the man to stand forth where all could see him

4. The question asked (v. 4).

"Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath day, or to do evil, to save life, or to kill?" He made the issue clear: If to do good, to show works of mercy, to save life, is to be guilty of wrongdoing, even of murder.

5. The man healed (v. 5).

Christ healed him by speaking the word, so they could not accuse Him.

6. The result (vv. 4, 6).

The pharisees were silenced. There was no ground upon which to accuse Him. But since their hearts were set upon His destruction they sought how they might put Him to death.
